

Places To Study On Campus

| Location? | Description | Noise Meter |
|---------------------------------|--|---|
| Law School Library | The way a library should be. Silent, individual study when you really need to focus. |  |
| Library | Head up to the third floor for silent study or work with a group in the learning commons or basement. The library offers many different study environments. Leave your laptop at home and use any of the available computers. Come here for printing, scanning, and photocopying, too! |  |
| Boggs Lobby and Computer Lounge | Great spot on the Academic Quad for group or individual study, and available printing for all students. Close to PJ's! |  |
| Graduate Business School | Plug in your laptop and settle into one of the couches on the first or second floors for a less crowded study experience. If you're lucky a grad student will swipe you into one of the breakout rooms on the second floor! |  |
| Lavin Bernick Center | Grab a study snack and a couch or table in or outside the LBC. Try the out the James Lounge too! |  |
| Undergraduate Business School | Get there early and snag a breakout room, or study in an empty classroom. The B School has several computer labs and free printing for Business Students. |  |
| Audubon | For a peaceful study spot, cross St. Charles and head to Audubon Park! Bring a picnic and blanket, feed the ducks, or stroll under the trees. Ambient background noise. |  |
| Jones Patio | Get some sun while you study on the Jones Patio. It's located across from the library in case you need to seek refuge in the air conditioning. |  |
| Residence Hall Lounges | A great place for more social studying. Catch up on your reading and catch up with your roommate! |  |
| PJ's at Willow and McAlister | Coffee, of course, and printing! Cozy chairs, roomy booths, and table space available. |  |
| Social Pool | Work on your tan and your homework at the same time! Bring a suit and jump in for a quick study break! |  |
